The DIMMER VIEW

Lawyers Would Censor Press

When the press is shut out, the public is shut out. When news is withheld, it is the public which is deprived. These are the issues generating from the Reardon Report, which the American Bar Association House of Delegates has voted to set up. The Reardon activity is a study made by a committee headed by Massachusetts Justice Paul C. Reardon. The beginning was with the assassination of President Kennedy.

It was said that reports of the Kennedy assassination were so sensational that Oswald could not have been given a fair trial. That's untrue. The press did not make it sensational, the assassination was sensational of itself.

After the Warren Commission issued its report, Justice Reardon was called upon to provide a fair-trial study. The Reardon recommendation would have courts adopt a rule permitting the defense to move that "any preliminary hearing, bail hearing, or other pre-trial hearing... including a motion to suppress evidence" be held in the judges chambers or be "otherwise closed to the public including representatives of the newspaper media."

As you would suspect, the members of the press became highly disturbed by this censorship recommendation, particularly so since A.B.A. would have the courts enforce the censorship under penalty of contempt of court. Here is what some of the more respected newspeople say about the loss of freedom of information inherent in the Reardon action:

EDITOR & PUBLISHER — "If these recommendations are approved and adopted by state bar groups and trial judges across the country it will be the first time in history that any non-legislative organization has been able to dictate terms governing news coverage, treatment and publication."

ELMO ELLIS, WSB Radio (Atlanta) general manager — "The American Bar Association is not America's constitutionally authorized legislative body, and it has no right to gag the press or manage the news. Regardless of its motives it is incorrect when it assumes to deprive journalists — or the public — of their rights under the First Amendment."

HO BLONK, managing editor of Wenatchee (Wash.) Daily World, AFME FOI chairman and ex-officio member of SDX national FOI committee — "That provision of the recommendations calling for police departments to adopt rigid internal rules as to what officers might say to reporters would be enforced by rule of court or by legislative action, with appropriate punishment for failing to do so."

"This, in effect, makes the desk sergeant the person who shall decide what the people may know about crime, instead of the editor, who has, from the very nature of his position, a much more objective outlook as far as the public is concerned. It opens the way for news management by the police. In big cities and some small, the ABA will be clearing the way for officers to release only news that will make the department look good."

WASHINGTON POST — "What is needed in this country is not less, but more scrutiny of the police, prosecutors and judges."

MIAMI HERALD — "What the bar association now proposes is to manage the news about crime which is at the heart of a domestic crisis."

CHICAGO DAILY NEWS — "Without downgrading the importance of the defendant's rights or denying that the communications media have sometimes infringed them, we cannot concede that the situation was so bad as to warrant a major restriction on the public's right to know."

NASHVILLE TENNESSEAN — "... Were not the problems of crime so serious, and thus the public's need to know so critical, the ABA's adoption of restrictions on the news media, law enforcement officers and the courts would be bad enough. In these times it is an astonishing case of setting fire to the house to heat it."

PAUL LAXALT, governor of Nevada — "Theoretically, it is good to protect one from being tried and convicted in the newspapers prior to trial. But muzzling prosecutors and police officers is not the practical answer. A resourceful reporter can always get a statement. The answer lies in greater responsibility on the part of all concerned to protect the criminal defendant from being crucified prior to trial."

When Is a Commy Not a Commy?

Maybe everyone is supposed to be equal under the Constitution. At least that's what the Supreme Court says about communists.

A communist shall not be denied work in defense plants because he refuses to take the loyalty oath or because he holds membership in any organization — including the communist party.

As a soldier, I'd hate to think that the tools of my trade were prepared by persons loyal to a philosophy dedicated to overthrow the type of government for which I was fighting.

However, that isn't the point we want to make. The Supreme Court says there is no onus connected with being a member of the overthrow club and that said member shouldn't suffer reprisals as a result thereof.

Then, maybe some poor soul can tell us, why it is that a newspaperman may suffer a suit of libel if he labels a guy a communist?

It appears he suffers a loss of "character" if he is called a commy in print, but he's simon pure if the defense plant people learn he is one.

Checks: A Do-It-Yourself Project

It's always surprising to learn that many members of today's cashless society know less about check writing than safety dictates.

With the growing use of credit cards and payment by checks, only enough change is carried by some to satisfy the cigarette machine and the parking meter.

The Bank of America operates a department now through which it shoots out advisories to the press covering everything from marriage to do-it-yourself appliances repairs. A fiscal lonely hearts release, as it were.

Viewing checks, BoA suggests:

... Date the check the day it is written, even if it happens to be a Sunday or a holiday. Checks written on a Sunday or a holiday are valid.

... Don't abbreviate the payee's name unless, of course, space dictates that you must.

Moves To New District

Fred Jabusch Resigns School Post

Fred M. Jabusch, a member of the La Mesa-Spring Valley Board of Education resigned Monday night from the board. It was effective immediately.

Jabusch, who will be moving to a new home, said that his resignation is being made at this time so that the Board would be able to get a successor to fill his slot.

It is time to start work on the school budget and he did not want to impair the Board and its works.

He said, "Since this is the beginning of school budget time, I believe my successor should have a part in developing the budget with which he will have to work."

Hardy G. Kuykendall, president of the board told Jabusch, "We are sorry to hear your announcement and we react to your decision with a feeling of regret."

The measure of a man relates not only to what he is against but, more importantly, to what he stands for. During these past three years you have stood for principles of good education, fair play, and understanding for all concerned.

For this, we extend our warm thanks for a job well done. We have grown to appreciate your counsel and friendship — we shall miss you."

Kuykendall said that no successor has been chosen. If the board members fail to make a selection or agree on an appointee within the next two months, the San Diego County Board of Education is given the task of filling the post.

Such an event is not likely to happen because of the close agreement of the board members on almost all other matters that they face.

Jabusch now has a La Mesa mailing address but is in the Canyon Valley School District. He retired in 1960 from the Fortuna School District where he had been an Industrial Arts teacher since 1927.

He was elected to the La Mesa-Spring Valley School District in 1965. He has three children, including a daughter, Mrs. Royal Williams, who is married to the principal of the La Presa Elementary School.

He has a son who teaches Industrial Arts in Sacramento and another son who is a speech instructor at the University of Utah.

Jabusch told the board, "I have enjoyed my three years on this Board even though the first two years were very frustrating at times. The last year has been a real pleasure, and I am confident the present Board members will replace me with someone who will have the best interests of our youngsters in mind."

In other action the board gave preliminary study to the 1968-69 school budget.

It is expected that the La Mesa-Spring Valley Teachers Association will propose a pay increase at the May 6 meeting of the board of education.

HEADQUARTERS OPEN: Campaign headquarters opened last week for Dr. Max Rafferty at 7959 Broadway. More than 75 persons were on hand to greet the State School Superintendent who is running for senator. Two unidentified campaign backers are shown with Dr. Rafferty as he cuts the ribbon officially marking the opening of the headquarters.

Grove Man Laments Washington Arson

by Linda Provenza

"Why is it that a small portion of the Negro population is allowed to loot and defy the laws of the United States?" This searching question was posed by a Lemon Grove man who was a witness as portions of Washington were destroyed.

Dr. Frank Gigliotti, who is National Vice-Chairman of Evangelicals of the United States, Vice-Chairman of the Commission on Christian Action, and a Baptist minister, who lives at 3785 Gigliotti dr., was attending a meeting of the Supreme Council of DeMolay in Washington when the rioting and burnings occurred in the capital city.

A veteran of three wars, Dr. Gigliotti said, "I cried when I saw Washington burning — fired by a small segment of the population that was being agitated. Who had what to gain?"

Spring Valley Kiwanis Hear Governor's Assistant Keyes

The Spring Valley Kiwanis Club, meeting April 10, discussed having representatives at the annual Pillars of Freedom meetings in San Diego, April 23, and 30 and May 7 and 14.

An interclub with El Cajon was also discussed, for April 18, when El Cajon club has its annual "Padres" luncheon. Spring Valley's first vice president, Roy Williams was presented his vice president pin, as he succeeded Glenn Darlin, who has been transferred to Washington.

Guest speaker at the breakfast-meeting was Bob Keyes, Community Relations Assistant to Governor Ronald Reagan.

He was introduced by program chairman, Stewart Taylor. Keyes is a graduate of the University of San Diego and was a teacher at Marian High School in Imperial Beach.

Keyes told Spring Valley Kiwanians that he handles nearly all problems in California involving minority groups. He said 50 per cent of all minority people need training and pointed out that there are over one million student drop outs each year, many of them from grammar schools.

He said that kids of the poverty areas fall behind, even though they are promoted in school.

California has the largest college budget in history, Bob Keyes said, even though cuts have been made.

Speaking on Medical, Keyes pointed out that the Governor is not opposed to the program, but wants legislature to "have another look" at it. He said if the program continues as it is, taxes must increase.

Touching on the subject of Welfare, Keyes said many persons are not receiving it legitimately. He was quick to point out, however, that in many cases it was not the fault of the recipient.

He said many times the social worker was not doing his job properly. He said there is a new program set up, "FO-CUS" that takes people off Welfare and provides jobs for them.

Keyes said that California is carrying out plans to combat problems of unemployment, therefore there is less rioting and trouble in this state. He pointed out that there are a number of programs now, which will "get to these people." He said many of those being employed have also been advancing.

Keyes said that many persons with arrest records, blame their trouble on lack of education. And, he pointed out, we must take a realistic look at the employment situation, and not lower the standards of qualifications.

The problem today among minority groups is that they must feel wanted, he said. Otherwise they hesitate about applying for employment.

He said the new "Earn and Learn" program is proving to be a big help to the minority groups. A person goes to school four hours a day and works four hours. He said the Governor has been among these groups and learned many of their problems first hand.

Asked about agitators, Keyes said those are the ones who have "lost all hope" and go out to preach hate.

BEAUTY COLLEGE AWARDS: Four students of the Lemon Grove College of Beauty on Imperial ave., have been honored for top hair fashions in statewide competition. More than 71 girls attending beauty colleges in San Diego

$1 Billion In Cal Funds Support Washington Costs

Gordon C. Luce, state director of business and transportation, last week before the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, Luce touched on transportation, rapid transit, withholding taxes and on the 60-40 split in California freeway construction funds.

"California is a donor state in federal highway funding," Luce said, "About 15% of the auto tax revenues collected here will be used to cover administrative expenses in Washington and for interstate freeways in other states."

"Over the life of the interstate freeway construction program," he said, "this will cost California motorists about $1 billion."

Raps Withholding Tax
 Luce said that withholding tax proposal, backed by Speaker Jesse Unruh, is not in the best interest of the people of California. It would cost everyone more, be another burden for the small businessman and still wouldn't affect everyone who pays taxes.

The director pointed out that withholding would retrieve only about $20 million from the present tax cheats, far less than the $30 to $100 million cited by Unruh.

In discussing some of the costs efficiencies introduced by the Reagan administration in 15 months, Luce said the state is operating with a 2% reduction in the number of employees, and a 75% reduction in state employee travel.

He stated that the Savings and Loan Division had improved its efficiency with the lower assessment since 1962. "This will give the chartered financial institutions in the state more money to invest within the state," he said.

In the area of state investments, Luce said State Treasurer Ivy Baker Priest has put more of the $1 billion state investment in state banks than before.

He said the money will be invested to the greatest extent possible within the state, where it will work for the good of all Californians.

Yorty Asks For Riot Control Legislation

Mayor Sam Yorty has urged Gov. Ronald Reagan to seek changes in California's Penal Code dealing with the inciting of riots "before the summer finds us wanting."

Yorty noted that "as in the early part of 1966" he submitted to the Governor "an urgent measure a bill designed to prohibit the offense of inciting to riot in the following language:

"Every person who does an act or engages in conduct which tends to incite a riot, or tends to incite others to commit acts of force or violence or the burning or destroying of property, at a time and place and under circumstances which produce a clear and present danger to the public peace, is inciting a riot."

Yorty said the objective of his statute "would permit arrest of a person before he succeeded in his efforts to incite a riot or induce others to commit any of the crimes specified in the proposed legislation."

The proposed legislation required no proof of a specific intent to incite a riot.

"However," Yorty told Reagan, "the bill was amended by the Legislature prior to passage as Penal Code Section 404.6 to restrict its application to those persons who 'with the intent to cause a riot' engage in such acts and conduct under circumstances which produce a clear and present and immediate danger or acts of force or violence."

The Mayor said "these amendments have the effect of weakening the legitimate control sought by such proposed legislation."

the awakening of the conscience of this nation. Black and white walking hand and hand to save and preserve the principle of freedom, justice, and democracy. This thing will take patience, courage, and clear thinking if the unity of this nation is to be preserved."

Dr. Frank Gigliotti may sound idealistic, but perhaps such strong ideals are needed now. His hope is that "the people of Lemon Grove will join the people of this nation to heal the wounds, comfort the refugees, and bring about the type of understanding that helps people work together, live together, and pray together as children of a good God."

Belli will discuss "The Law Revolt". He will explore campus rebellion, civil insurrection, and police attitudes in speech at Grossmont College. No figure in modern legal history has caught the fancy of the lawyer and even the layman as has Belli. Sometimes controversial but always effective, Belli speaks with authority about the subjects he knows best. Belli, "The King of Torts," is a modern giant in the field of damages.

He is equally at ease in the courtroom, lecture hall, or library. His "Modern Trials" is considered the American trial lawyer's classic, and his new series, "Modern Damages" will become handbooks for trial lawyers. In addition to his San Francisco and Los Angeles offices, he maintains offices in Tokyo and Rome.

The public is invited to hear Belli speak on a timely subject. His speech will be presented free of admission charge as a community service.

Reservations for the luncheon may be made by calling Mrs. Ernest Yahnke at 582-1042 by Friday.

Reservations for the luncheon may be made by calling Mrs. Ernest Yahnke at 582-1042 by Friday.

Bear Urges CHP To S.D. Traffic

Assemblyman F. James Bear has introduced a bill to have the California Highway Patrol take over the traffic duties on freeways within the City of San Diego.

AB 1360 would vest in the Commissioner of the California Highway Patrol full responsibility for the administration and enforcement of traffic laws on state freeways in San Diego.

"This bill takes away the present exemption of San Diego," Bear said.

$26,000 Budget For Spring Valley Recreation District Is Made

The Spring Valley Park and Recreation District has proposed a $26,000 budget to the District for a combined summer and winter recreational program.

The Advisory Council recommended to its Board of Directors and the County Board of Supervisors, that the tax for Spring Valley Recreation & Park District be set at 18 cents per $100, or assessed valuation for the tax year 1968-1969.

The advisory council is looking for suitable sites as locations for green spot parks in South Spring Valley. Site selections will be presented to the Board of Directors, and the County Supervisors for approval of suitability of location.

The next meeting will be held in May. The Citizens Advisory Board is seeking organizational representatives to attend and participate in the program planning to better reflect the needs of the district. Interested persons are requested to contact Barbara Jordan at 463-0616. She is the secretary of the Council.

County Track Meet

First four place winners from separate City and County track meets will vie for top positions in the annual San Diego Elks Club-sponsored City-County Track Meet in Balboa Stadium Saturday, at 10 a.m.

The meet is a final lead-up to the Pepsi Cola-sponsored Junior Olympics, set for preliminary competition in Balboa Stadium on May 4 at 8:30 a.m. and finals on May 11 at 7 p.m.

Girls City-County meet will be held at Coronado at 2 p.m. Saturday with their Junior Olympics to follow on April 27 at 9 a.m. in Balboa Stadium.

Auto Racing Saturday Night

Auto racing will get underway at the Cajon Speedway this Saturday night at 8 p.m. More than 60 super stock cars from various parts of the West Coast will be on hand to compete for top money awards.

Action at the raceway is expected to draw more than 100,000 fans throughout the season. Money awards will flow over the $50,000 mark. Vance Butler of La Cresta will be on hand to battle with other top drivers to hold his 1967 championship title of the track.

Toros Are Unbeaten

The San Diego Toros soccer club prior to going up against a strong Oakland team last night has been undefeated. Results of that match were not in at press time. The Toros have sent Kansas City down the shoots 3-0, and dumped a strong Boston club 2-1. In their third game of the season they washed the Washington Whips 2-0.

The action at Balboa Stadium is fast. In soccer there are no time outs with only two exceptions. The first is half time which runs for six to ten minutes. The other is when a player is so critically injured that officials must stop the clock so that the player can be carried off of the field.

To date, the Toros have shown strong power and great ball control. The next four games will be on the road. The Toros will be matched up against Atlanta, Baltimore, Dallas and St. Louis. They will return to San Diego on May 8 when they take on Vancouver.

St. Louis Cards Are Top Draw

The St. Louis Cardinals have been picked as the favorite to take the National League flag. They have the power plus the pitching staff to back them up. The Pittsburgh Pirates are picked for second slot while the Giants are figured to come in third.

The Cincinnati Reds, Atlanta Braves, followed in order by the Chicago Cubs, Philadelphia Phillies, Los Angeles Dodgers, Houston Astros and New York Mets will close out the positions.

In the American League, the contenders behind the Twins, according to SPORT Magazine's player poll, will be the Detroit Tigers, Chicago White Sox and Baltimore Orioles, with the 1967 pennant-winning Boston Red Sox dropping to fifth, trailed by the California Angels, Cleveland Indians, Washington Senators, New York Yankees and Oakland Athletics.

Masters Tourney Gets Upset

It sure was a great day . . . and a bad day at the same time. Roberto de Vicenzo shot a -11 a first place tie in the Masters golf championship at Augusta, Ga. He was deadlocked with Bob Goalby. The British Open champ, from Argentina marked his score card incorrectly and had to bow out by default. So close to so much and lost and for so little. Maybe the pro golfers should hire official score keepers to do that type of work for them.

Bullfighting Opens May 19

The 1968 bullfight season will open in Tijuana at Plaza El Toreo — the downtown bullring, Sunday, May 19. Paco Gorræz, general manager, made the announcement. Gorræz said a total of 18 Sunday bullfights have been scheduled in Tijuana's two bullrings this year.

Following the season's opener, corridas will be held every Sunday in the downtown plaza from June 2 through July 21. The scene then shifts to the beautiful Bullring-by-the-Sea, Plaza Monumental, from July 28 through September 15. The last scheduled fight of the season will be held at the downtown arena on September 22.

Gorræz said Tijuana appearances have already been booked by leading matadors from Europe, South America and Mexico.

Open house.

Dedication ceremonies for our new 21-story home are being held Friday, April 19th at 1:15 p.m., First and Ash Streets in downtown San Diego. We'd like to invite you to join us for the ceremonies—then see the building. Guided tours will be conducted until 8 p.m.—and on Saturdays, April 20th and 27th between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Of course, there's more to our new building than beauty. Because now, about 900 people, from six different locations, will work together under one roof. This should help us provide even more efficient gas and electric service.

Exposition Horse Show Adds New Sweepstake Cash Prizes

More age groups for junior riders and new sweepstakes cash prizes for stakes winners are the major changes in this year's National Horse Show at the Southern California Exposition.

The 23rd annual horse show opens June 26 and runs a full 12 days concurrent with the Exposition. The first four days will be for juniors, followed by eight days of open competition.

"We will now have five age groups instead of three, with the result that classes will be smaller, judging will be easier, and more riders can win a ribbon," horse show manager Eric Atterbury explained.

The age groups will be: riders 9-and-under, 10-11, 12-13, 14-15, and 16-17.

They will apply in six classes — English pleasure, English horsemanship (saddle seat), English pleasure (hunter type), hunter seat equitation, Western pleasure, and Western horsemanship (stock seat).

The second major change in this year's open show—sweepstakes cash prizes changes distribution of prize money to stakes winners.

"Now the prize will be based on the number of entries. Twenty dollars from each entry in a class will be placed in a pool for the winner.

In contrast to past years, large class winners will win more than small class winners," Atterbury declared.

Major open championship stakes in the horse show will be in hackney singles, harness ponies, singles, fine harness horse, five-gaited amateur, three-gaited, conformation hunter, working hunters, and jumpers.

Other changes in this year's competition include a new class, adult-owner — amateur hunters, and the expansion of green hunters into two classes — working and conformation.

The Exposition's national horse show should easily live up to its claim of "world's largest" with competition offered in 125 open events, and 60 junior events.

Atterbury said he expects about 8,000 entries and 2,000 horses this year, roughly the same as last year's totals. Cash premiums, in addition to sweepstake prizes, will total about $19,000. Premium books went into the mails recently to about 2500 potential exhibitors, Atterbury said.

Multiple Sclerosis Campaign To Start

The house-to-house campaign of the Multiple Sclerosis Society's Hope Chest will be held in Lemon Grove and Spring Valley May 24 to 29, it was announced this week by Robert Allen, of Lemon Grove, Allen is education chairman of the society.

The campaign will not be under the auspices of the Community Chest this year, he said. "We hope that we may acquire more funds to operate this vital project by campaigning independently."

The campaign will stretch from Mothers Day to Fathers Day, this year, he said.

A telephone group is presently calling local residents asking for volunteers. Those who may have been missed but who want to help may call MS Campaign headquarters at 298-9163 and enroll.

There are about 25 MS sufferers in the Lemon Grove-Spring Valley area. In San Diego and Imperial Counties there are more than 2,500 patients, a spokesman said.

MS society provides transportation, medication, physical aids and appliances, recreation and therapy.

Additional information may be acquired from Mrs. Fred Stratheide at a 24-hour number — 297-4363.

SC1N Bank Earnings

SAN DIEGO — Southern California First National Bank reported its first quarter net operating earnings per share rose 14 percent to 74 cents from 65 cents a year earlier.

Total net operating earnings for the quarter ending March 31 were $938,660.30 on 1,264,394 shares, a 37 percent increase over the March 31, 1967 earnings of $686,127.16 on 1,056,000 shares. Three mergers consummated in late 1967 accounted for the increase in outstanding shares.

County Gets $4 Million In Returns

State Controller Houston I. Flournoy has reported distribution of $127,482,400 to cities as a partial advance on their share of State-collected "in lieu" vehicle license fees.

Flournoy said San Diego County's share was $4,080,324. The total represents 75 percent of the vehicle license fees which the State expects to receive during the six-month period ending May 31, 1968. The balance of the actual amounts for the period will be paid in June.

Half the total — $63,741,200 — was distributed among California's 401 incorporated cities and half was shared by the 58 counties.

Because the fees take the place of a local property tax on vehicles, Flournoy explained, the cities and counties may use their share for general purposes.

More Cattle Rustled Today Than "In The Old Days"

SACRAMENTO — Rustlers in California are probably stealing more cattle today than they did in the old open range days. But, surprisingly, not primarily from ranchers with branded cattle.

Instead, many of the victims are small part-time ranchers with a few head of unbranded stock in a small pasture. "It's easier to sell the unbranded animals," Carson Hubbard, Chief of the Bureau of Livestock Identification, tells the Council of California Growers.

Hubbard says his office receives reports of losses averaging approximately 5,000 head of cattle per year, "but we know that many thefts go unreported for one reason or another."

"Most of the rustling today is on a small scale — one or two head at a time," says Hubbard. "And the rustlers operate in singles or in pairs, seldom if ever in organized rings."

When rustlers steal for meat alone they usually kill one or two animals on the spot, skin and dress them, and then haul the carcasses away. One rustler who was apprehended in such an operation was using a vacation camper mounted on a pickup truck. The inside fixtures of the camper had been removed.

Hubbard has 100 inspectors who check sales of all cattle

Inheritance Tax Procedures Get Facelifting

A simplification in California's inheritance tax procedures was announced by State Controller Houston I. Flournoy.

Simplified procedures for the release of the inheritance tax lien on transfers of stocks and securities were prescribed by Flournoy after the Legislature, at Flournoy's request, authorized this action last year.

The new procedures eliminate the requirement of individual "consents to transfer" of (1) corporate stock where the securities must be probated in the decedent's estate and the tax determined in the probate proceedings.

(2) securities owned by a non-resident decedent under specified conditions which establish that the decedent was not a legal resident of California or subject to the tax; or (3) securities consisting of subscription rights or stock dividends.

"This simplification will eliminate the need for about 80,000 consents per year, approximately 25 percent of the annual volume."

It will avoid unnecessary effort and delay on the part of heirs and executors in effecting the transfer and such stocks and securities, and reduce workloads in the State Controller's and County Treasurer's offices without jeopardizing collection of the tax," Flournoy said.

Heart Fund Memorial Is Announced

"A need for hope turns many people to the Heart Fund in time of mourning," according to Atty. Steve Oberg, Memorial chairman of the San Diego County Heart Association.

"The Heart Association offers this hope through its Memorial Gift Program," Oberg said.

As part of the program, a memorial in the name of Mrs. Francis M. Jones, 1754 Dupont dr., Lemon Grove has been made.

"Memorials are a living gift because they are used solely for research — the search for ways to prevent and cure heart disease; ways to save lives and to rehabilitate lives that are crippled by heart disease."

"At the same time that Memorial Gifts offer hope to the living, they pay tribute to the memory of a friend or relative," Oberg pointed out.

He reported that San Diego County residents made 630 Memorial Gifts to the Heart Association in March.

Tax Collection Cost Too High Says Hardison

James Hardison, candidate for San Diego County Tax Collector, this week cited excessive administrative costs as an unnecessary burden to the local taxpayers.

Hardison charged that "It is incumbent upon us all as good citizens to pay equitable taxes in order that our local government may provide the necessary education, safety, and other public benefits that we all need. However, the growing administrative costs associated with the payment and collection of taxes must be curtailed."

"Presently home owners pay their tax bills through tax impound accounts held by home loan agencies. These lending agencies collect the tax money from the taxpayer on a monthly basis, and forward the total payment to the collector's office in December. The unnecessary costs to the taxpayer in this method of collection is represented by the loss of interest income on the money he deposits to the tax impound account."

Hardison added, "The average taxpayer who pays between $400 and $600 per year as property tax pre-payments could receive benefits of $13.22 and $16.44, respectively, in the form of interest income. This could represent a total savings to the taxpayers of approximately $2,000,000. It should be incumbent upon lending agencies to pay income interest to the taxpayer on tax impound accounts as a matter of fair business practice, or it should otherwise become a state regulation for the protection of the taxpayer."

In conclusion, Hardison said that effecting these savings for all taxpayers would be one of his goals as Tax Collector.

Total food consumption in the U. S. increased 37% between 1950 and 1967, just slightly above the increase in our population.

Sue Papike Moved By Closeness Of 'New Family' In Australia

Editors note: Sue Papike, 17 year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Papike, 10624 Eureka rd., Spring Valley is spending a year in Australia under the auspices of the American Field Service. We will provide to you, through the cooperation of Mr. and Mrs. Papike detailed reports of her experiences as an Australian student.

We left L.A. on Jan. 18th, at about 9:15 p.m. after some delay. It wasn't until I got on the plane and got settled that I realized that I was really going and that I was leaving all of you - boy, did I cry.

I got a little sick on the way over, I don't know if it was because I was tired, upset or what as I have never been sick on the plane before.

In Hawaii and Pago Pago we had 2 hours delay because one of the engines had an oil leak. We finally arrived at Sydney and we were met by a group of Australian returnees and we all took a bus to the Abbotsleigh School for Girls.

This is an old English private school. It has a brand new 25 yard pool and I'll bet you can't guess who was the first one from our group in it. When I finally got to bed, I slept 11 hours straight.

The school put on a big barbecue for all of us. At breakfast the Aussies played a trick on us. We were served some terrible junk called Vegamite - it was black stuff and they told us to put it on our toast. UGH - it was really horrible - everyone made such a face, and all the Aussies laughed at us.

There is a mail strike on over here. When we heard the news about the strike, we were sick. A man here told us if we would hurry up and write a short letter home, he would see that it got out of the country on the first plane out.

Meets New Family

I left for Melbourne to meet my new family. Our arrival there was really something. All the exchange students that were going to be living in and around Melbourne were all met by their new families too. Mine found me right away. They recognized me immediately from the picture that was sent them.

The ride on the train to their farm was a long one. It gave me a chance to see some of the country. The area compares to Southern California, only the trees are different.

I found out the trees here are mostly English deciduous. Golden Elms, Silver Birch, Golden Poplars and Desert Ash.

My new family is the greatest - they have made me feel so much at home. My "Mum" is very out-going and very understanding and I feel I can take any problem to her. My Dad is quiet, warm, and friendly. Both my sisters are nice. Heather is quiet, with a good sense of humor, and Suzanne is lots of fun and is a real tomboy.

Besides all the sheep and lambs we have here, we also stock goats, chickens, ducks, cows, horses, ten dogs and 40 canaries. I have been in some of Dad's farmer meetings with the other ranchers around here, and find them very interesting.

Headmaster and Uniforms
We went to Colac and met my headmaster, Mr. Flynn, and ordered my uniform. They don't look too bad, in fact they are quite comfortable. I guess it is just the idea of a uniform, at least when I get up in the morning I don't have to worry about what I will wear today. But, oh, you should see my shoes - ugh.

There are more private schools in Australia than there are public schools, and most of the schools require that all students wear uniforms.

In some ways I think that their rules are immature - for instance, boys sit on one side of the classroom and girls on the other, same thing during lunch - segregation is part of school life.

This is a great tennis country and everyone in my family plays competitive tennis. They are teaching me the finer points of the game and I am not as good at tennis as I thought. Guess I'll stick to swimming.

International Biologist Says Man's Lifespan May Be Increased Soon

Man's lifespan, particularly the productive middle years, may be increased dramatically in this or in the next generation, an internationally-known research biologist said.

Such a result is likely to follow if society furnishes the tools scientists need to unravel the mysteries of human aging, according to Prof. Bernard L. Strehler, University of Southern California gerontologist.

Strehler, as spokesman for a newly-organized group seeking to promote research in aging, said also the projected breakthrough might provide a key to the solution of "the most serious biological problem that faces the human race - the population explosion."

Contrary to popular misconceptions, the relatively small extension to age 80 of the healthy, productive middle period of life would greatly relieve the effects of the population explosion.

The conclusion is based on the fact that in modern societies individuals do not begin to return the investment society has made in them until they reach 25 to 30 years of age.

Therefore, only about half of the present lifespan of man is available for productive work.

The quality of life and its improvement in future generations are closely related to the return which the individual gives to society between age 30 and the time he becomes a non-producing member as a consequence of biological aging.

Slow Down

In economic terms, the return on the investment society makes in each person would be doubled if the rate of decline due to aging could be retarded by less than 25 percent.

Strehler, director of the Association for the Advancement of Aging Research, characterized present research efforts into the aging phenomenon as "beset with stumbling blocks, lags and lacks," and described the need for accelerated efforts as "critically urgent."

"During the past decade," he said, "there has been a remarkable growth in our understanding of many fundamental biological phenomena, particularly in the field of genetics."

"These and related technological advances appear to be ripe for application to complex multi-disciplinary areas, such as gerontology.

Clock Theory

In explaining the Association's projections for research into the aging process, Strehler used the analogy of a built-in biological "clock" mechanism that regulates the human life cycle.

"If science can understand the mechanics of the internal biological clocks that regulate the duration of human and other lifespans, and learns to change their rates of ticking or to re-set them, there could be a substantial change in man's longevity," he said.

Strehler said such changes already have occurred in the clock rate during normal biological evolution; for example, in the mouse the clock runs 40 times faster than it does in man, which have lifespans of two and 80 years, respectively.

Urgent Need

An urgent need for reorganization and redoubling of effort is suggested also, he added, by the fact that there has been no significant change since 1950 in the life expectancy of men who reach 50 to 65 years of age.

Strehler said an understanding of the biological origins of the aging process has been hampered by three persistent lacks:

Deficient organization and availability of the basic information that is already available.

Insufficient involvement of adequate numbers of informed and competent bio-medical scientists in the research.

Absence of administrative

Learn Spanish the Easy Way

Hardison's Telespanish

by James Hardison

Someone had said that the words for "aunt" and "uncle" looked very much like the same word in Spanish. Is this true? If the Spanish words look so much alike, how can one tell the difference?

The word for "aunt" is "tia" and the word for "uncle" is "tio." As you can see these words look very much alike. The only difference between them is in the ending letter; "tia" ends in "a" and "tio" ends in "o."

Caution should be taken in learning the correct pronunciation for these words. The letter "i" in Spanish is sounded like a double "e" in English. Thus, "tio" would be pronounced "TEE-oh" and "tia" would be pronounced "TEE-ah."

Many other names for family relations are distinguishable only by the ending letters "o" and "a." For example, "primo" which means "boy cousin" may be changed to "prima" which means "girl cousin." The word for brother, "hermano" may be changed to sister, "hermana" simply by changing the last letter from "o" to "a."

Several of the above Spanish words may be found in today's practice phrases listed below. Read the phrases and see how many of the above words you can find that are being used. Then compare the endings so that you can understand the difference between those words which end in "a" and those which end in "o." Then practice saying the phrases under the guidance of the recorded voice when you dial 276-2762 on your telephone.

IMPORTANT PHRASES
Say "El es mi tio." (EHL ehs mee TEE-oh)
for "He is my uncle."
Say "Ella es mi tia." (EHL ehs mee TEE-ah)
for "She is my aunt."

USEFUL PHRASES
Say "El es mi primo." (EHL ehs me PREE-moh)
for "He is my cousin."
Say "Ella es mi prima." (EHL ehs me PREE-mah)
for "She is my cousin."

OTHER PHRASES
Say "Tengo dos hermanas." (TEHN-goh dohs ehr-MAH-nohs) for "I have two brothers."
Say "Tengo dos hermanas." (TEHN-goh dohs ehr-MAH-nahs)
for "I have two sisters."

Move Here To Stop Pandering in Mails

Mail patrons offended by pandering advertisements can now take steps to curb such mail, Postmaster F. R. Faucher said in announcing plans for administering a new law which gives each family the right to decide that an ad is "erotically arousing or sexually provocative."

When an advertisement sent through the mails is offensive on these grounds, a postal patron can now ask the post office to direct the mailer to send no more mail to him and to remove immediately the patron's name from all mailing lists he owns, controls or rents.

Gas Company Pays Second $5 Million

The San Diego Gas & Electric Company paid $5,653,783 to San Diego County in the second installment on the utility's 1967-68 property taxes last week.

The company, which is the largest taxpayer in the City and County, paid a like amount to the County last December.

To assist patrons, the Post Office Department has published a brief pamphlet -

How You Can Curb Pandering Advertisements - which is now available at the Lemon Grove Post Office. In addition to explaining how the law works, the pocket-size leaflet contains a form letter one can use when sending his complaint to the post office.

The pamphlet explains that when a patron receives an advertisement which is, in his opinion, pandering, he must send the ad, its envelope and the form letter, or one which includes is language, to his post office with the words, "Request for prohibitory order" on the face of the envelope.

Postmaster Faucher said: "This new law should give some protection to American families offended by advertisements which they believe to be morally harmful, particularly to their children. Last year the Post Office Department received some 140,000 complaints from those offended by pandering advertisements."
